

National Seminar on “Empowerment of Tribal Women”

Tribal Research and Cultural Institute, Government of Tripura, organized a National Seminar on “Empowerment of Tribal Women” on 13-14 February, 2105 in collaboration with Women’s College, Agartala. The seminar has focused on Emerging issues like tribal women’s contribution in different fields of society as well as the shortcomings of the different agencies, Government Scheme implementing authorities. To organize the seminar an organizing committee was formed with the Principal, Women’s College as Chairman, Director, of the Tribal Research and Cultural Institute as Vice Chairman and representatives of both organizations as executive committee members.

The Chief Guest of inaugural Session was Dr Prafullajit Sinha, Mayor, Agartala Municipal Corporation who has inaugurated the National Seminar by lighting the lamps along with other dignitaries present on the occasion. Dr. Bipradas Palit, Director, Higher Education, congratulated the organizer for the relevant topic for deliberation in the national Seminar and highlighted the topic. Further, he discussed in length about different communities of tribes with reference to Tripura State. Mr. Sailohnuna, Director, TRCI, as Special Guest delivered his valuable speech and outlined the themes and topics of seminar.. Professor Khakchang Deb Barma, NorthEastern Hill University, deliver key note address.

About 57 participants from different states including Tripura have participated in the seminar. A total of 43 papers were presented in two days. 5 resource persons from Assam University, Jawharlal Nehru University , New Delhi and 3 invited speakers from Tripura has also presented paper in the seminar.

